La Cornue ranges have always represented a celebration of all that is glorious about France and the French culinary tradition. They exhibit timeless style and summon an expression of truly refined taste.

Your taste. Your style.

La Cornue ranges are as unique as each owner, and therefore, we believe, something quite extraordinary.

Our ranges are cherished by our clients as a commissioned piece of art. Not only used to create masterpieces in the kitchen, the ranges themselves are considered by most to be a masterpiece in the kitchen.

La Cornue leads the industry in this regard, but has never lost sight of its own storied heritage. Grounded, yet forward-thinking. Traditional, yet cutting-edge. Culinary-focused, fueled by creativity, and beaming with paternal pride over every elegant range we produce.

In 1908, in the heart of Paris, Albert Dupuy ignited the flame of elite cuisine. It was there that Dupuy premiered the world's first convection oven.

At the time, most ovens were mere flat-topped cavities that held racks suspended over a fire. The majority of people simply considered cooking to be heating food to eat. But Dupuy pondered: "What does it really mean to cook?" He developed his oven with a vaulted ceiling to usher heat around the food, rather than trapping it to burn beneath. To enable optimum precision, the oven drew upon the city gas lines that were winding their way to homes and street lamps throughout the City of Light.

Dupuy christened the oven La Cornue after the French term cornue — the system for refining the gas that warmed the new creation.

For over 100 years, La Cornue has continued to build upon Albert's initial convection innovation. They've expanded the design, introduced new styles, but still maintain that it's all done for one reason, and one reason only: the pleasure of the customer.

ARTISANAT

“Without craftsmanship, inspiration is a mere reed shaken in the wind.”

JOHANNES BRAHMS

Passionate gourmets the world over seek out La Cornue.

Our reputation is fortified each day by those who engineer, build, refine, test, and polish each La Cornue. As a result, the name La Cornue represents a renowned spirit.

A La Cornue is a masterpiece of heirloom quality... an icon of French cuisine and culture. Each range will only gain value with time... and to us, it is in this fact that we truly define the word: luxury. Although some of our ranges can take up to four months to complete, they can inspire for generations.

While we export ranges to more than 250 retailers in 40 countries, it's comforting to also note that La Cornue, at its core, remains a craft manufacturer, with a full compliment of only 60 employees.

Each range is made by hand and the labor is intensive. Each worker is a specialist, understanding the greater goal.

They are not just craftsmen, but companions to each range along its journey from inception to crated final product. They are experts in steel, copper and brass, inspired by great design, working as a team to create an inspired tradition.

True excellence can only be achieved when every step in the process is in pursuit of perfection.

The Château Series is the crown jewel of La Cornue.

Made to order exclusively in the Saint-Ouen l’Aumône workshop outside Paris, each range is the embodiment of a specific owner’s vision. Available in an unrivaled range of 8,000 configurations, colors, finishes, and measurements, each Château range features La Cornue’s patented signature — the vaulted oven first premiered by Albert Dupuy in 1908.

The culmination of three generations of research, innovation, and expertise, the Château series is available in seven range sizes, from a charming 30" to a stately 71". Complementary cabinetry, hoods, rôtisserie and accessories are also available.

The pure materials, experienced craftsmanship, and enlightened innovation of Château ranges offer uncompromising culinary performance that is unsurpassed by any other brand, whether residential or professional.

COCO CHANEL

One of the most striking and appealing aspects of the Château Series is the ability to apply any color your heart may desire to your range. The notion of a custom-color option for a range was unheard-of prior to the early 1960s.

After returning home from the Second World War and assuming the company reigns from his father, André Dupuy immediately set about to pour lavish color options into the world of all-white ranges.

André premiered these creations in 1964 when he unveiled the elegant Château Series, and the concept of the custom La Cornue was born.

If a color exists in the word, it can be applied to one of our inspired designs.

An array of fifty brilliant colors are currently offered by La Cornue, but a myriad of new and deluxe colors, curated by some of the industry’s most renown designers, are being offered each year. Combine these with any of our unique trim combinations and you’ll find that when it comes to le monde coloré de La Cornue... nothing is impossible.

THE SUZANNE KASLER
COULEUR COLLECTION

CURATED EXCLUSIVELY FOR LA CORNUE

While in France, American designer Suzanne Kasler is never without her camera. She treats the streets like a museum, capturing every bit of inspiration possible; painted doorways, elegant tapestries, stacked dishes in the flea market, whatever catches her discerning eye. It was on a recent visit to Entrée des Fournisseurs, her favorite Parisian ribbon shop, that the inspiration was born for an exciting new partnership, and a beautiful new color palette for the iconic French brand, La Cornue.

Rooted in a love for everything French, the collection is organic and earthy, yet bold. Firmly founded in tradition, but at the same time, not quite so... traditional. The palette brings a new design relevance to something that is already classically French. Colors that magically transform an icon into something even more iconic.

With the introduction of The Suzanne Kasler Couleur Collection, the range can now be seen as the palette driver for the whole home. It can lift moods, and convey personality. These colors have been curated specifically to translate the experience of going to Paris into something that can be real and lasting in peoples lives.

“These are the kinds of colors I see while in Europe. Muted and faded. Subtle enough that you never get tired of them. Classic, not trendy.”

The La Cornue Chateau Carbon Fiber Edition is a masterpiece like no other, unique in its appearance and perfect in its function.

Carbon fiber is an extraordinary high-tech material, usually associated with the Aerospace and Formula One industries.

Supremely sleek in the carbon fiber finish, it marries high performance with real glamour.

Originally designed in 2014 as a one-off piece to celebrate the 50th Anniversary of La Cornue's emblematic Chateau 150 model, the carbon finish proved so popular that it is now available to order. Matte black carbon fiber panels are paired with a stainless steel trim in black-tinted finish or traditional stainless steel trim creating a dramatic new signature range.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

The Flamberge Rôtisserie can be a signature piece in any kitchen. It features strikingly upon a focal wall, where it is a window into a world of succulent slow-roasted meats, poultry, fish, and vegetables.

Crafted from cast iron and steel, the rôtisserie provides both a sumptuous culinary option and a mesmerizing aesthetic, slowly roasting food on the spits or in the fish basket. The Maison La Cornue tray collects juices that can compose a harmonious flavoring for accompanying dishes.

The rôtisserie measures 30" square, and does not require a flue, so it's ready to incorporate into any kitchen. La Cornue's special cabinet option can hold the rôtisserie and its heat, while providing extra storage.

There is a wonderful story told at La Cornue:

In 1995, an older woman stepped into one of our shops and purchased a range. It was a small Château, with just one oven. As she stood to leave, she quietly said: “I’ve been dreaming about that for 30 years.”

Stories like this one are not unique. They are the common place. They are the fulfillment of a lifelong culinary journey to attain the very best.

The La Cornue lifestyle is one and the same with the country from which it was born. An appreciation for freedom, adventure, heritage, bold flavors and colorful artistic expression.
